

DIED SUDDENLY OF HEART DISEASE

How frequently does a head line similar to the above greet us in the newspapers. The rush, push and strenuousness of the American people has a strong tendency to lead up to valvular and other affections of the heart, attended by irregular action, palpitation, dizziness, smothered sensations and other distressing symptoms.

Three of the prominent ingredients of which Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is made are recommended by some of the leading writers on Materia Medica for the cure of just such cases. Golden Seal root, for instance, is said by the UNITED STATES DISPENSARY, a standard authority, "to impart tone and increased power to the heart's action." Numerous other leading authorities recommend Golden Seal as an unsurpassed tonic for the muscular system in general, and as the heart is almost wholly composed of muscular tissue, it naturally follows that it must be greatly strengthened by this superb, general tonic. But probably the most important ingredient of "Golden Medical Discovery," so far as its marvelous cures of valvular and other affections of the heart are concerned, is Stone root, or Collinsonia Can., Prof. Wm. Paine, author of Paine's Epitome of Medicine, says of it:

"I, not long since, had a patient who was so much oppressed with valvular disease of the heart that his friends were obliged to carry him up-stairs. He, however, gradually recovered under the influence of Collinsonia (medicinal principle extracted from Stone root) and is now attending to his business. Heretofore physicians knew of no remedy for the removal of so distressing and so dangerous a malady. With them it was all guess-work, and it fearfully warned the afflicted that death was near at hand. Collinsonia unquestionably affords relief in such cases, and in most instances effects a cure."

Stone root is also recommended by Drs. Hale and Ellingwood, of Chicago, for valvular and other diseases of the heart. The latter says: "It is a heart tonic of direct and permanent influence."

"Golden Medical Discovery," not only cures serious heart affections, but is a most efficient general tonic and invigorant, strengthening the stomach, invigorating the liver, regulating the bowels and curing catarrhal affections in all parts of the system.

A Kentucky Girl in "Under Southern Skies."

The Courier-Journal had the following to say of Miss Virginia Pearson, a Louisville girl, who is starring in "Under Southern Skies."

Miss Virginia Pearson, who is appearing in "Under Southern Skies" at the Masonic this week is a popular Louisville girl and her hosts of friends are proud of her success since she adopted the stage career two years ago. Favorable accounts have been received of the young woman's efforts from cities where she has played, but Louisville people had to be "shown" and Miss Pearson's efforts at the opening performance last night left no doubt in the minds of her well-wishers of her ultimate success.

From chorus girl to star in the space of a few months would naturally tend to increase the egotism in a person's make-up, but such is not true of Miss Pearson. She is the same beautiful and sweet dispositioned girl who left her friends in Louisville to take a long chance in the whirl of the theatrical world. When seen during a moment of leisure last night after her audience had warmed up to her in the second act Miss Pearson was visibly affected. Tenderly placing bouquet after bouquet from admiring friends in her dressing room she submitted to a short interview.

"You don't know what a heavy heart I faced that audience tonight," she said. "When I stepped to the footlights and saw row after row of familiar faces I began to tremble and had my first attack of stage fright. I knew I had to make good and I pulled myself together and tried to do my best. I have succeeded beyond my expectations and I want to say to you that the round after round of applause from my friends makes this the happiest moment of my life. They did not think I could do it and I longed for the time to show them what was in me. I am very happy over the result."

Desha Breckinridge Threatened With Jail Sentence.

Desha Breckinridge, editor of the Lexington Herald, was before the Fayette County Grand Jury yesterday, and was asked the following question, which was in writing:

"Mr. Desha Breckinridge, will you please tell the grand jury who is the author of the article published in The Kentucky Evening Gazette, entitled, 'Unfortunate Criticism,' J. T. Denton, foreman of the Grand Jury."

Mr. Breckinridge declined to answer this question and when asked his reason stated that it was because he was the President of the Lexington Herald Publishing Company, which publishes The Kentucky Evening Gazette, and he did not think it proper for him to disclose what information he had regarding The Gazette and that he would not do so.

The Grand Jury forthwith marched in before Judge Watts Parker, taking the question and Mr. Breckinridge with them. The Judge read the question to Mr. Breckinridge and he still refused to answer, and was informed by the Court that he must answer or go to jail. The Court, however, gave him until Saturday morning to consult his lawyer.

The article referred to was a criticism of the Grand Jury and read like a very just one. It has come to a nice state of affairs that a grand jury can't be criticised, we didn't know before that they were infallible. They are getting bigger than the U. S. Supreme Court, for we newspaper men criticize the big court frequently and have never had a jail sentence up to this time.

If you go to jail old boy, let us know for we want to come and pay our respects while you are behind the bars. You never was far wrong in your life and we believe you are right now, however, we are for you a little stronger if you should happen to be wrong this time.

The handsome grey carriage team of Mr. Jas. E. The automobile stopped across street from the horses, and was making more noise than a threshing machine.

Interesting Maps.

Feeling that every citizen of the State is more or less interested in the improvement of the waterways of the country, the Louisville Commercial Club has had printed 5,000 maps, in themselves an argument that every Senator and Congressman should support the big waterway appropriation introduced by the committee on Rivers and Harbors, at the present session.

The Club has mailed us a number of these important maps and the News will be glad to furnish one to any subscriber that feels interested in this great question.

What the Kidneys Do.

Their Unceasing Work Keeps Us Strong and Healthy.

All the blood in the body passes through the kidneys once every three minutes. The kidneys filter the blood. They work night and day. When healthy they remove about 500 grains of impure matter daily, when unhealthy some part of this impure matter is left in the blood. This brings out many diseases and symptoms—pain in the back, headache, nervousness, hot, dry skin, rheumatism, gout, gravel disorders of the eyesight and hearing, dizziness, irregular heart, debility, drowsiness, dropsy, deposits in the urine, etc. But if you keep the filters right you will have no trouble with your kidneys.

Ernest Rule, tailor, of Main street, Paris, Ky., says: "For several years I suffered greatly with kidney trouble. The pains across the small of my back and through my kidneys were most intense. The kidney secretions were much discolored, scalding and irregular. Through the newspapers I learned of the virtues of Doan's Kidney Pills and procured a box. Having given them a good trial and realizing so much good from their use, I am in a position to recommend them to all sufferers from kidney troubles."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doans—and take no other.
